PSYCHOLOGY

Psychology is the scientific study of human cognition, affect, behavior, and relationships. Psychologists seek to understand, predict and influence behavior through research into a wide range of issues which affect human functioning, including social, physiological, developmental, cognitive and emotional factors. Research methodology is central to the discipline, and all Psychology majors learn about research strategies and methods of data analysis.

YEAR ONE

Have questions? Need to talk? You already have a Friend-At-Marshall ready to help you succeed. Find your FAM Peer Mentor here: www.marshall.edu/fam

Stay on the Herd Path and come to class! Class attendance is more important to your success than your high school GPA, your class standing, or your ACT/SAT scores.

In order to graduate on time, you need to take an average of 15 credits per semester. Are you on track? Take 15 to Finish!

Attend an intercultural festival or event on campus or in town.

Take a career self-assessment to help determine what majors fit your talents and interests.

Join or create a club or organization on campus about a particular issue you care about. Marshall has more than 200 student organizations.

Take a pulse check. Know what you need to do every year to keep your grants, scholarships, or federal financial aid.

YEAR THREE

Complete graduate admissions exams (GRE, MCAT, LSAT) the summer before your senior year.

Consider the accelerated B.A. to M.A. Psychology Program if you'd like to earn both your bachelor's and master's degrees in less time overall.

Are you on track to graduate? Meet with your advisor for your Junior Eval to make sure you know what requirements you have left.

Networking is key! Attend a Career Expo to seek employment opportunities and network with employers in your field.

Your degree requires an internship. Start planning now! Meet with your advisor to discuss your internship options.

Want to continue your education and increase your opportunities? Talk to a faculty member about whether graduate school fits your career goals.

No need to wait until graduate school. Discuss undergraduate research opportunities with faculty in your major right now.

YEAR TWO

Are you completing enough credits to graduate on time? Dropping or failing a class can put you behind. Use summer terms to quickly get back on track.

Take a Community Based Learning (CBL) class that connects course content to the community. Stay engaged and make a difference.

Develop relationships with professors who can serve as future references by attending their office hours.

Join the Marshall Mentor Network and connect with professionals in your field to discuss your major, career path, and more.

Meet with a career education specialist to conduct a "gap analysis." Figure out the skills you'll need for the career you want while you still have time to build them.

Declare a major before your 30th hour. Participate in a Career Exploration Experience (job shadow) to help decide on your major and career goals.

Take an elective course that links diversity to your field of study.

YEAR FOUR

This is it! Are you on track to graduate? Meet with your advisor for your Senior Eval to see what requirements you have left.

Think about who can help you grow as a student and a professional (professors, advisors, alumni, etc.) and ask at least one to be your mentor.

Consider applying for a year-long service opportunity after graduation like AmeriCorps, Peace Corps, Teach for America, City Year, or Literacy Lab.

Strengthen your resume and enhance your presentation skills. Present what you've learned at an academic conference off campus.

Develop relationships with professors who can serve as future references by attending their office hours.

Be at the top of your professional game! Prepare a final resume and practice your interview skills with a career coach in Career Education.
