

October 19, 2020 | Volume 4, Issue 3

Lewis College of Business Fall 2020 CEO Panel

The Lewis College of Business and its Brad D. Smith Schools of Business will host the second CEO panel of the Dean's Distinguished Speaker Series at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 21 on Zoom. The event offers an opportunity to learn from Jeff Weiner, executive chairman and former CEO of LinkedIn. The executive chairman and former President and CEO of Intuit, and Marshall University alum, Brad D. Smith, will serve as moderator in the fireside chat. This is a unique chance for Marshall University's students, staff, alumni, board members, as well as Huntington community members and business leaders, to come together to hear exciting perspectives about effective leadership. Challenges surrounding COVID prevented us from holding an in-person event, but by offering this event virtually we can connect with these prominent business leaders. Brad and Jeff will cover a wide range of topics that influence the business world enabling us to bring lessons from executives into the classroom. There will be a question and answer period at the end in which Brad and Jeff will entertain questions from the audience.

The link provided below is for registration and gives the Zoom link:

<http://events.constantcontact.com/register/event?llr=sjzakqabb&oeidk=a07ehccm2cyad0df0ff>